ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Deline Briscoe is an internationally acclaimed singer and songwriter hailing from the Gugu Yalanji of North Australia. Her soulful intimate sound has defined her as one of Australia's finest voices. A principal artist in leading Australian performing arts company Black Arm Band, Deline has performed to over one million people worldwide, alongside artists such as Archie Roach, Geoffrey Gurrumul and Emma Donovan. Showcasing her strong Indigenous heritage with songs in her mother tongue, Gugu Yalanji, of North Queensland, Deline's progressive journey as a Yalanji Songwoman upholds cultural song traditions through her language connection.
